

Wednesday 8 March 2017, 13.30-15.00
European Parliament, Brussels, Room: JAN 4Q1

INVITATION

When Will Europe Act?

How the aviation sector can reduce emissions through the EU ETS

*The event is kindly co-hosted by Members of the European Parliament,
Mr Peter Liese (EPP) and Ms Julie Girling (ECR)*

Programme:

13.30-15.00

13.30-13.40 Mr Peter Liese, Member of the European Parliament - opening remarks

13.40-13.50 Ms Laurence Graff, Head of Unit, European Commission

Aviation under the EU ETS from 2017

13.50-14.00 Mr Jasper Faber, Aviation and maritime specialist, CE Delft

CE Delft study: A comparison between CORSIA and the EU ETS for Aviation

14.00-14.10 Mr Thomas Reynaert, Managing Director, Airlines for Europe (A4E)

Airline perspective on the Commission proposal

14.10-14.20 Ms Kelsey Perlman, Policy Officer - Aviation, Carbon Market Watch

How to ensure effective climate action in the aviation sector

14.20-15.00 Q&As moderated by Ms Julie Girling, Member of the European Parliament

Background:

The aviation sector, both in Europe and internationally, is a top polluter that has not contributed to European climate objectives under the EU Emissions Trading System (EU ETS) to the same extent as other sectors. The European Commission recently published a proposal revising the sector's participation in the EU ETS. The proposal followed the International Civil Aviation Organization's (ICAO) decision to establish a global offsetting measure for aviation which will enter into force in 2021.

Carbon Market Watch and Transport & Environment would like to invite you to an event to discuss the recent developments, and in particular what is to be done in the period from 2017-2020 when international aviation is not bound by any climate agreement, and how aviation can contribute to strengthening the EU ETS post-2020.

The event will analyse the Commission's proposal, explain what is at stake if Europe doesn't address the rapidly growing emissions from aviation, and how to achieve adequate ambition in the sector.

REGISTER
HERE